" I have satisfaction in stating after an official residence at New York for more than twenty-five years, during which I had opportunities of becoming acquainted with the character and standing of that Society, that in my judgment It is a sound and well-established institution. ably managed, and offering great advantages to all persons seeking the benefits of life assurance. "In support of the claims of the Equitable

Society to public confidence, I may briefly refer:-" First-To its great popularity in the United States, evidenced by its rapid growth and remarkable financial prosperity, standing as it now does, in the foremost rank of life assurance companies, he well in Europe as

Secondly-That in the United States there is annually a rigid governmental inspection of the affairs of all life insurance companies, in order to insure a strict compliance with the legal requirements binding upon such institutions; and, further, that such inspections take place not only in the State of New York, which is the seat of this Society, but in every other State in the Union in

"Thirdly-That the Directors of the Equitable life Assurance Society, of whom the greater CHINESE STORIES, by Robt. K. Douglas. Illust. part are personally known to me, and the rest by reputation, are American citizens of the highest obstacter and standing as merchants and practical men of businessseveral of them connected with some of the United States—circumstances which ought LE CODE DU MAHAYANA EN CHINE, par J. J. to furnish an additional guarantee of the stability and the prudent management of the Society. For these reasons, therefore, among others, I regard the claims of the Equitable Life Assurance Society of the United States upon public confidence as

but we know that Austria-Hungary has been unable to maintain her silver currency at an arbitrary value pending her accumulation of a sufficient stock of gold to place her on a gold basis in fact as well as in name, and it is difficult to see how India can be any more successful. India is a rich country and there can be no doubt of the ability of the 1393 Government to bring a gold standard into force in course of time, but until gold is accessible in sufficient quantity to pay Government obligations in that metal and until the rupees in circulation shall have worked themselves down to the quantity necessary for the internal circulation of the country only, we fail to see how the coin can be maintained at its artificial value. The schemes cutlined embrace the plan of the silver men for free coinage, the Populists' demand for more money, whether silver or paper, and of the more conservative who believe in the nutional currency issue, the continuance or the extension of the national banking system, and the establishment of a State bank issue.

WASHINGTON, 14th June. -A reporter had a chat yesterday with Secretary Carlisle about the situation. In course of the conversation the Secretary said that from 1792 to 1873, a period of eighty-one years, the total amount of silver dollars coined was 8.045.838. In 1873 coinage was stopped by au act of Congress but resumed in 1878 under the Bland-Allison act, under which up to July 14, 1890, something over twelve years, there was coined $278,166,793; also from trade dollars 85.078.472, and from the seignorage of bullion $6,641,109, making an aggregate of $389,886,374 in full legal tender silver money issued by the Government since 1878. Of this amount only $8,016,016 was in actual circulation the first day of the present month, the remainder being held in the Treasury as part of the assets of the Government or represental by outstanding certificates.

Und the set of July 14, 1890, there bad been coilled $29,408,461, which makes the total $419,294.832, or more than fifty times as much were willing at any time to give certificates of as during the previous eighty-one years. In addition to the coinsge the Secretary has pirchased under the not of July, 1-90, and now holds in the van is of the Treasury accoined 124 292,532 flue out ces of silver bullion, which cost the people of the United States $114,299,920 and is worth to-day at the market price of silver $101.411,386, thus showing a loss of $ 0,888,534. By the terms of the sen the Secretary was required to pay for the silver bullion by an issue of new United States notes a syable in coin, and that upon demand of the holder of such notes they shall be redeemed in gold or silver at the discretion of the Secretary, it' being in the language of the sot the established policy of the United States to maintain the two metals on a parity upon the present legal ratio, or such ratio as may be provided by law.

In execution of this declared policy of Congress it is the duty of the Secretary, when necessity arises, to redeem the obligation in such coin as may be demanded. The records of the Pressury Department show that during the thirteen months beginning May 1, 1895, and tolliving parasites in the lining membrane of ending May 31, 1893, the Treasury notes for the purchase of silver ballion under the not of July

It is evident, said the Secretary, that if this policy is continued and he is compelled to issue American. bonds or otherwise to increase the interest-bearing public debt, it will be done for the purpose of precuring gold with which to pay for silver bullion purcha ed under the act referred to. The net gold in the Treasury has increased from $89,000,000 to $91,300,000.

. NEW YORK, 15th June. Secretary Morton, according to the Post's Washington correspondent, since his return from the West, has urged upon Secretary Carlisle the expediency of selling a lot of our store of pig silver for what we can get for it and turning the proceeds into the treasury. Carliste responds that there is no law under which he could make such sales.
